

Very Low Mammographic Breast Density May Be Associated With Higher Tumor Grade.

Diagnostic Imaging (4/1) reports that research suggests that “very low mammographic breast density is associated with higher tumor grade and predicted worse survival.” The findings were published in European Radiology.